Jefferson County

Located in southwestern Montana, Jefferson County is Montana’s 19th most populous with 10,049 residents, according to the 2000 Census.

Boulder, the county seat, is the state’s 49th largest city with a population of 1,300. According to the Montana Almanac, by authors Andrea Merrill and Judy Jacobson, it was one of the original nine counties of the Montana Territory and holds the Jefferson River, named by explorers Lewis and Clark for President Thomas Jefferson. The county was established in 1865.

Jefferson County’s slogan is “Undiscovered In-Between,” because of its location between Bozeman, Butte and Helena. The area is rich in mineral reserves.

According to the U.S. Bureau of the Census, median income for Jefferson County households in 1997 was $41,820. The county is 1,658.9 square miles in area; 1,656.7 square miles in land area and 2.2 in inland water area.

County residents experience the four distinct seasons. According to the Great Falls Weather Service, the average daily low in Boulder in January between 1961 and 1990 was 9.2 degrees above zero. The average daily high in July was 82.7 degrees above. The annual precipitation during the same period was 11.31 inches and the growing season was from May 8 to Sept. 30.

PLEASE NOTE: Because of time and budget constraints, we are only able to update our county fliers periodically. Individual tables are updated on a more frequent basis. You can call us if you'd like the most current information for a particular county. The Annual Averages for County Employment By Industry are updated annually, usually in June. The Top Employers are updated annually. Per Capita Income statewide is usually released late spring. Population data for Montana is released in late December and county data in March. The Annual Average Labor Force information is benchmarked annually and numbers available before March. The other tables contain Census information and will be updated every 10 years. You can also look for more current information on our website listed on the front of this publication.
